I have read some answers saying that this is not possible, but I have also found a couple of methods in the App Store Connect portal that seem like they might be appropriate for my case. Here are the methods I have found, along with some data that might be pertinent to my situation: app-id 123456789012345678901234567890 My app is in free to buy status, the minimum price I need to charge is $0.99. Does any of this make sense, or is there a way I can make my app available only in the App Store? Thanks A: This is not possible, the only way to make an app available only in the App Store is to go through the "In-App Purchase" or "In-App Advertising" process. A Short Guide to Mortgage Defaults and Foreclosure Trends Short-sale property properties also face a higher rate of default and foreclosure. While there may be short sales and foreclosures that are still in the foreclosure process, there are also many that have been seized for failure to pay. These properties are usually sold at public auction at a reduced price, and the proceeds are given to the bank holding the deed. Bank of America, Wells Fargo, JPMorgan Chase, and many others, have created their own "trooper" forces to help them market the properties and make sure
