Saving “envelope” money helps you plan your finances and make wise choices. For example, consider this scenario: A nonprofit group has a fund-raising budget of $2,000. To meet its goal, the group must raise $1,000. The group sends out a campaign to solicit donations, and it needs $300 to break even. Does the group have a sure-fire way to raise $300? “Yes,” says Charles Keizer, a former executive director of the organization, the Wisconsin Institute of Discovery, “the group should ask for the $300 from those who know and care most about the organization.” The organization is receiving only $100 for the campaign. “The $100 comes from the group’s senior staff,” says Keizer, “so they know the importance of the program and are determined to make sure it runs to its full potential.” But the senior staff can be “envelope people,” says Keizer. “You can’t depend on them to give the campaign their full attention. To get the extra money you need, you have to call on them at home.” Or, as Keizer says, you have to “save ‘envelope money’ to make your goal.” The group could consider a door-to-door campaign to solicit money. Keizer suggests that the group is able to raise $1,000 from the $2,000 budget by asking for $300 from five local churches. Dec 11, 2017 How should people who have just enrolled in an employee stock ownership plan contribute? Dec 11, 2017 In an October 20 email, the IRS reminded tax preparers that this year they’re expected to bill taxpayers for the cost of preparing and mailing their 2013 tax returns. This year, the IRS stated, preparers will need to charge a flat fee of $60 for return preparation. However, the IRS emphasized that preparing a return does not equal completing one. They noted that if you want to ensure a return is properly completed, you may want to pay a higher fee, like $100. wholesale clothing jean It was a five year old girl sitting beside her step sister in their seats in the theatre.
