Albert Einstein was a true pioneer in science and was a prolific contributor to human knowledge and as a result, he wrote science's most influential theory which has successfully explained the entire universe. What he is most well known for, however, was his theory of relativity, a theory which has successfully described the motion of the earth and everything else in the universe. Since the theory was derived from the general theory of relativity, however, it is possible that Einstein's Theory of Relativity could also be derived from Newton's theory of gravity. In this sense, Einstein's Theory of Relativity is just as old as Newton's theory of gravity. In fact, it is rather interesting to note that Einstein himself said, "For me, Newton's Principia has never contained anything more than a reformulation of common sense." By this, Einstein was of the opinion that Newton's theory of gravity could not provide a truly satisfactory theory of gravity. What Einstein believed was that Newton's theory of gravity did not explain in a satisfactory manner the motion of things in the universe and as such, Einstein proposed a theory of gravity which describes the motion of objects

LOCKING THE CURSE In FIFA 22, your ball is under increased pressure. The ball is able to break the line of a defender, and naturally drift out of the play. However, with new player traits, new animations and a new AI marking system, your players will make fewer block errors and become better defenders. The new AI marking system brings a much smarter and more challenging approach to defending. When challenging for the ball, the more skillful opponent can make an intelligent choice, and the opposing defender will make a smart move to prevent a clear chance. The new algorithm marks a more challenging opponent, and has the potential to make great opportunities for counter-attacks. But the high expectation of the opponent and the effectiveness of the pass will lead to an average number of errors. AI TEAMWORK A new AI system makes your team more tactically sound. Pass the ball around, make long passes, and set up your team for success in your matches. CHALLENGE PLAYERS IN THE FACE OFF The aggressiveness of your opponents will never be the same. This year they will be much more threatening to your players, and offsides will be called much more frequently. Players will show a higher level of aggression in their offsides challenges. MAKING THE GAME YOUR OWN It’s your game. FIFA 22 lets you make the game the way you want it. Change the atmosphere, increase the difficulty, and create a completely different experience for yourself.
